

Who said that only manufacturing processes are subject to waste elimination techniques? There is plenty of opportunity to eliminate waste in every company and every functional area, including Human Resources. Using typical process review techniques, RGB Services will work with the Client's associates to expose and eliminate wasted elements resulting in more streamlined processes.

Teaching others waste elimination is also a good strategy. RGB Services can provide a variety of hands-on training techniques that will allow selected associates how to recognize and eliminate waste.